INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this booklet is one of remembrance and education. History, I believe is an understanding of what occurred, why, how and, what was the effect afterwards. It does include numbers and we have attempted to be as accurate as possible. As we have learned over the 15 plus years compiling checking and cross checking and when you are sure ,…. up pops another lead or find!

The main research credit here goes to Dr. Ean Parsons and his father Dr. David Parsons. People who have helped explore and find The Royal Newfoundland Regiment "KNOWN UNTO GOD" Gravestones are Neil Burgess, Harold Pretty, Glenn and Penney Squires, Linda and Eric Bartlett, Steve Douglas, Ian Fong, Andrew Parsons, David Bird, Graham Plumridge, Peter Power, Shane and Stacey Penney, Clif Budden, Sue and Doug Copp, Arlene King, Dirk Vandenberghe, Jean-Pierre Outtier, Nic Mol, Geoffe Harrison, Terry Hissey, Louis Marion. Heather Pretty, my kids whom I have dragged all over since they were 1. There are probably a lot more who have made these exploring trips with me.

Thank you all,

Michael Pretty

Commemorating those "Known unto God".

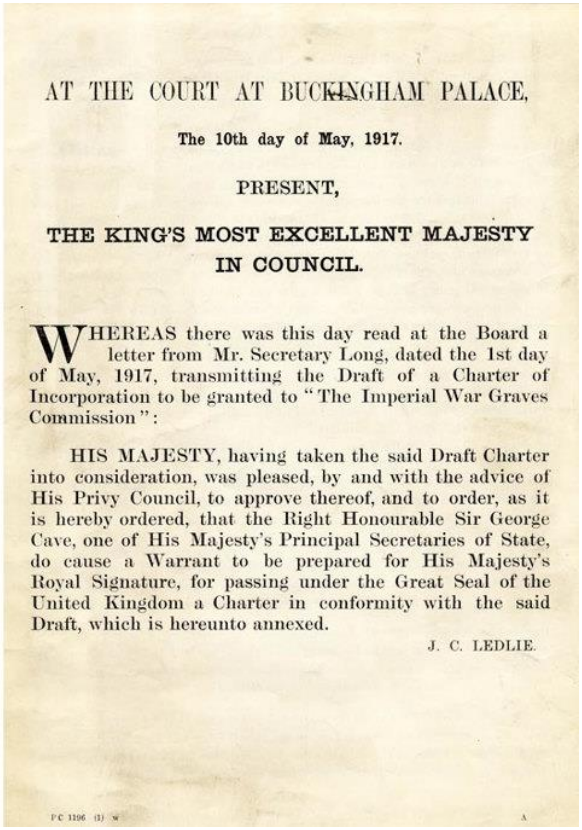

During the Great War the Imperial War Graves Commission now the Commonwealth War Graves Commission, was Founded by Royal Charter in 1917.

Dated 2nd May 1917.

The Imperial War Graves Commission.

Charter of Incorporation.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 10th day of May, 1917.

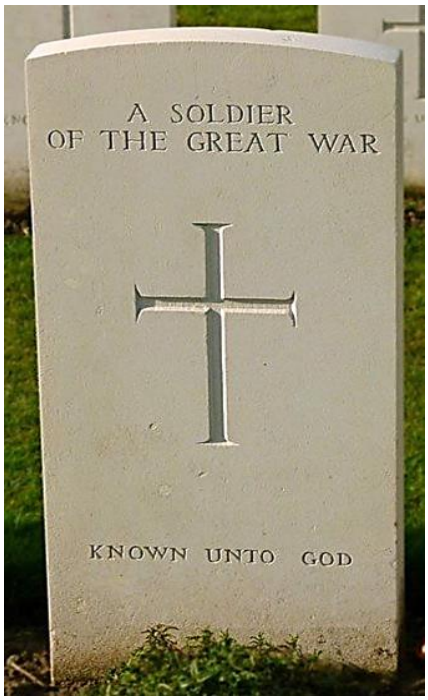

PRESENT,

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS there was this day read at the Board a letter from Mr. Secretary Long, dated the 1st day of May, 1917, transmitting the Draft of a Charter of Incorporation to be granted to "The Imperial War Graves Commission":

HIS MAJESTY, having taken the said Draft Charter into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that the Right Honourable Sir George Cave, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, do cause a Warrant to be prepared for His Majesty's Royal Signature, for passing under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom a Charter in conformity with the said Draft, which is hereunto annexed.

J. C. LEDLIE.

They took Rudyard Kipling's advice and used the phrase "KNOWN UNTO GOD", to be placed on the gravestones of those whose bodies could not be identified. as well as "THEIR NAME LIVETH FOR EVERMORE" on the Stone of Remembrance.

Today the Commission works on behalf of the Governments of Australia, Canada, India, New Zealand, South Africa and the United Kingdom to commemorate the 1.7 million men and women from the Commonwealth who lost their lives in the two World Wars

“OUR” UNKNOWNS

Those of “OURS” who have no known grave consist mainly of the men of the Newfoundland (later The Royal Newfoundland) Regiment. This Booklet will cover them and the hundreds more that served in other units, branches of service and with other countries in both World Wars.

Some 13,250 plus Newfoundlanders and Labradorians served in the Great War. These include persons from other nations served in the branches of the Newfoundland Military and those of ‘OURS’ who served with other countries. Around 6300 served in the Regiment, an almost equal amount volunteered to serve, and about 7200 were in the military services of Canada, Britain, USA, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. Over 2000 paid the supreme sacrifice, 1305 soldiers of the Regiment alone. Of these there are around 861 that have no known grave and are listed on the walls of the missing at Beaumont Hamel, Vimy Ridge, Menin Gate, and various Navy memorials in the UK. Soldiers were buried where they fell and sometimes several days, weeks, and even months after they were killed. When this occurred, they were often difficult to identify. In the case of the Newfoundland Regiment and most other countries their identity discs would have decomposed as well.

It was estimated in 1918, that from the Great War there were 559,000 or more with ‘NO KNOWN GRAVE’. Countless men have a grave that is marked with the Commonwealth War Graves Commission Head Stone with the simple inscription ‘A SOLDIER OF THE GREAT WAR - KNOWN UNTO GOD’ (see page 2). At times the rank and or Regiment could be identified by the badges found on their uniforms (see inside cover). If soldiers were buried in a trench their headstones would touch or if they were buried in a shell hole the head stones would also touch but would be in a circle.

Unknown graves were not normally listed in the data base or in the Cemetery Book by country or Regiment, so actually locating them was by extensive research, by methodically searching cemeteries, and lots of blind luck, not an easy feat with over 900 cemeteries in France and Flanders alone. Our Group came upon 18 unknown headstones of the Newfoundlanders in Sere Road Cemetery #2 in 2007 while visiting the 12 known Regimental Soldiers there.

There was one Headstone was particularly moving as it contained 3 men from NFLD (see page 1) To date the “Trail of The Caribou Research Group” have located almost 200 graves of unknown Newfoundlanders.

For missing in action Names There are 821 Names on Beaumont Hamel and 1 Regimental Officer double listed on Tyne Cott still for a total of 821. However, 1 Merchant Marine sailor that died has a known grave he is Buried in Carbonear, he died whilst at sea and the Captain returned home with the remains and 6 were not even killed.

Of the Regiment 5 were discovered on 1929 and are now have a known Grave, 4 in Serre Road No 2 and 1 in London Cemetery Extension.

Plus, Private Lambert was identified after he was found in 2016 and buried in Belgium.

So our best estimate at Numbers of actual unknowns on Beaumont Hamel are

- Royal newfoundland Regiment 593 Less the 5 found in 1929 and one in 2016
- Merchant Marine 115 has a known Grave 6 were not a causality
- Royal Newfoundland Volunteer Naval Reserve 114
- Plus, the double listing on Tyne Cott

Of Note is that on the CWGC search the one found or not a causality do not appear but there are 2 doubles listed as Alias Naval Reserve Avery Jack J who is also listed under his true name of Chafe and a Regiment fellow Eddy whose true name is Adey, both names appear so it can throw the numbers off.

BUT there are other UNKNOWN Newfoundlanders from WW1; as listed below

- Vimy Ridge FRANCE - Canadian Army -63
- Menin Gate BELGIUM - 32 British Army 1 and Canadian Army -31
- Thiepval Memorial FRANCE British Army -5

Beaumont Hamel Memorial (France and Bowring Park)

The Beaumont-Hamel Newfoundland Memorial was officially dedicated on June 7, 1925, by Field-Marshal Earl Douglas Haig, Commander of the British Expeditionary Force during the Battle of the Somme.

The site was declared a National Historic Site in 1997

The plaques were unveiled on 1 July 2009, the Caribou is across from them.

THE CROSS OF SACRIFICE is a Commonwealth war memorial designed in 1918 by Sir Reginald Blomfield for the Imperial War Graves Commission (now the Commonwealth War Graves Commission). It is present in Commonwealth war cemeteries containing 40 or more graves

The Cross of Sacrifice is an imposing bronze medieval longsword, blade down, on a stark white cross. It is one of the enduring symbols of the bravery and sacrifice made by the men and women of the Commonwealth during the World Wars.

In Grateful and Undying Remembrance of those Sailors Soldiers and Airmen from all parts of the Commonwealth who died during two World Wars.

THE MYSTERY OF GREEN HILL CEMETERY - By Michael Pretty

The Commonwealth war graves list 2 unknown Newfoundlanders in Green Hill Cemetery

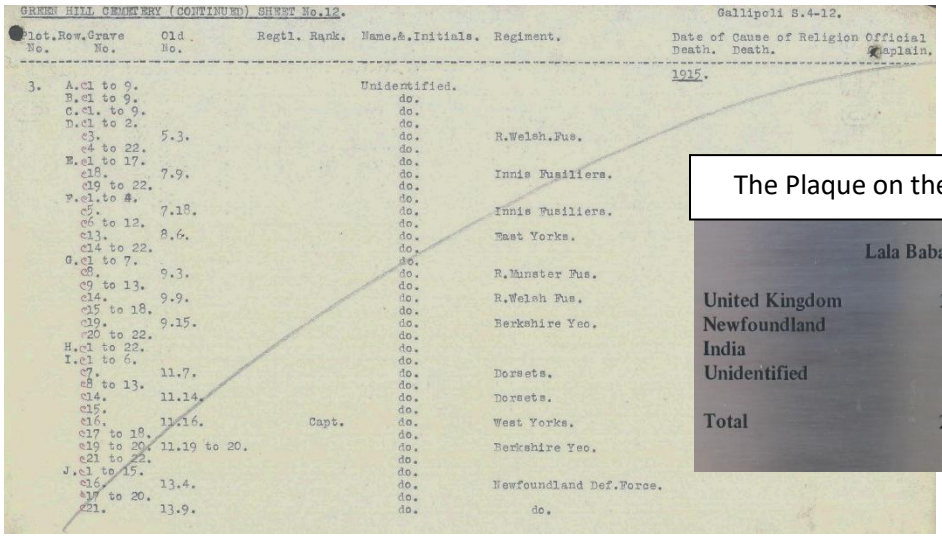

GREEN HILL CEMETERY, Turkey (including Gallipoli)

Commonwealth War Dead (1914-1918)
Soldier. Newfoundland Regiment. 1 April 1915 to 31 December 1915. Grave Reference: III. J. 21
Soldier. Newfoundland Regiment. 1 April 1915 to 31 December 1915. Grave Reference: III. J. 16
NOTE in Gallipoli there are no unknown actual markers just a blank space.

Every Nfld soldier who was KIA in Gallipoli is accounted for as buried, here are my thoughts.

1. Another soldier from another country who traded a hat badge etc with a Newfoundlander
2. One of the 7 soldiers buried at sea washed ashore was found could not be identified and then buried. Green Hill was a collection cemetery after the war.
3. One of our lads in a "KNOWN" grave is a misidentified soldier from another regiment.

A search of records shows that these 2 along with dozens mor were moved from a Cemetery that was created after the Battle of Scimitar Hill in mid August 1915 (NFLD Regiment did not arrive till 20 Sep and looking at deployments the Regiment did nor fight in that area,

The Battle of Scimitar Hill (Turkish: Yusufçuk Tepe Muharebesi, literally: Battle of the Dragonfly Hill) was the last offensive mounted by the British at Suvla during the Battle of Gallipoli in World War I. It was also the largest single-day attack ever mounted by the Allies at Gallipoli, involving three divisions. The purpose of the attack was to remove the immediate Ottoman threat from the exposed Suvla landing and to link with the ANZAC sectors to the south. Launched on 21 August 1915 to coincide with the simultaneous attack on Hill 60, it was a costly failure, in which the Turks were forced to use all their reserves in "severe and bloody fighting" far into the night, with some Turkish trenches lost and retaken twice.[3]

These stones were often re-erected after a cemetery has been destroyed in battle. There is probably not a body here, but records indicated that this soldier had been buried here before.

There are dozens of OURS that have the Inscription.

BELIEVED TO BE BURIED IN THIS CEMETERY

The largest group of these is in ANCRE BRITISH CEMETERY next to Beaumont Hamel which was the site of vicious fighting again in 1918.

The Menin Gate (Dutch: Menenpoort), officially the Menin Gate Memorial to the Missing, is a war memorial in Ypres, Belgium, dedicated to the British and Commonwealth soldiers who were killed in the Ypres Salient of World War I and whose 54,896 graves are unknown. Every evening at 20:00 (8PM), buglers from the Last Post Association close the road which passes under the memorial and sound the "Last Post". Except for the occupation by the Germans in World War II when the daily ceremony was conducted at Brookwood Military Cemetery, in Surrey, England, this ceremony has been carried on uninterrupted since 2 July 1928.There are 32 of "OURS" remembered on the gate.

The Stone of Remembrance was designed in 1917 by the British architect Sir Edwin Lutyens for the Imperial War Graves Commission (IWGC). It was designed to commemorate the dead of World War I, to be used in cemeteries containing 1,000 or more graves, or at memorial sites commemorating more than 1,000 war dead. It is intended to commemorate those "of all faiths and none", and has been described as one of Lutyens' "most important and powerful works", with a "brooding, sentinel-like presence wherever used"

CEMERERIES WITH MEMORIAL WALLS These are common and are not be confused with cemeteries who list those buried on a wall.
